On 30th November up to 3 million public sector workers will be on strike against attacks on their pensions.

As Dave Prentis of Unison has put it:

"We have had enough of seeing the rich and powerful milking the system and taking vast profits. It's time to move from them telling us to us telling them."

Come to the meeting and arm yourself with the arguments to counter the Tories' spin, and convince your workmates to make 30th November a day to remember.
